Steve Price

Biblical starting point to the area of mental health

Today's mental health perspectives are looming large over Biblical authority and in some cases dictating Biblical interpretation or truth. How does mental health interface with the Word of God? Are they compatible? How does the field of science compliment or contradict the Ancient of Days? This seminar will set the initial foundation for just such questions and lay the groundwork for the myriads of topics that incorporate the discussion of mental health.

Cultural influences upon Biblical thinking

"Culture" is a common term that we use either as an excuse or as a reason to support our conclusions and actions. Is this right? Just how does our culture affect our Biblical perspective? How should it affect us? What are the cultural trends that are impacting our Biblical mindset? What should be our responses to such areas as: (1) Social issues competing for first place; (2) sinful behavior masquerading as human rights violations; (3) consumerism and its impact on the idea of "doing church." These and other more specific topics will be addressed during this seminar.

Keith Keyser

Private and Public Worship

A practical look at what goes into our personal worship of the Lord and its public outflow in the assembly of His people.

The Problem of Pain

Answering the common criticism of God - if there is a loving God and He is all-powerful, then why is there so much pain and suffering in the world? We'll look at this from the perspective of skeptics, seekers, and believers.

Jonathan PeckFalse Doctrines Gaining Traction in the Contemporary Church

Examining some of the heresies and false doctrines creeping into present-day churches

Marriage Perspectives for a Skittish Unmarried Generation

Reorienting our hearts and minds to God's view of marriage and commitment so we are not afraid of marriage.

June PeckLife Lessons for the Christian Woman

Examples and advice drawn from personal experiences in the USA and overseas

Hannah KeldermanThe Rebellion of Rest

Rediscovering the Lord's rest in the midst of a restless church and world

Caleb TrentModern Idolatry

Gleaning lessons from the Old Testament as we look at areas which pose a challenge for those who seek to follow Jesus with an undivided heart.

How to love people like Jesus

A brief examination of the habits of our Lord and how He models the perfect friend in seven areas.
